MORE THAN 25 FIRE COMPANIES TO PARADE HERE

Between 25 and 30 fire companies, including equipment, marching units, bands and drum corps, will take part in the parade to be held here Monday afternoon in connection with the annual meeting of the Adams County Firemen's association.

That report was made Wednesday evening by Raymond E. Menges, chairman of the parade committee, at a meeting of committees for the firemen's block party which will culminate with the county association meeting on Labor Day. The committees met to complete final plans at the engine house.

Menges said that he had received acceptances from 18 fire companies signifying their intention to be present for the parade, and that he had received oral acceptances from "seven or eight" other companies. He also added a belief that quite a number of companies will probably show up to take part in the parade without giving any prior notice of their plans to be here.

$525 In Prizes
The fire companies will be competing for $525 in prizes by taking part in the parade here. The judges for the parade were announced as John W. Brehm, George M. Zerling, Murray B. Frazee, Jacob Britcher and Charles Beales.

A reviewing stand will be placed at the intersection of East Middle street with Baltimore street for the convenience of the judges.

The parade will form on Springs avenue at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and will move at 3 o'clock. The route of the parade will be east on Chambersburg street to South Washington, south on South Washington to South street, east on South street to Baltimore street, north on Baltimore to Center square, south on York street to North Stratton street, north on North Stratton to Water and east on Water street to Codori field where the parade will disband and the firemen will be served refreshments.

Coming From Wide Area

Members of the parade committee will dress in full uniform and will report at the engine house at noon on Monday to direct the various visiting companies to Springs avenue where the parade will be formed. The firemen will use jeeps in their tours to and from the engine house to the parade formation site.

The firemen also plan to ask that all parking be forbidden for the day in center square so that the visiting fire companies can park their trucks there when they arrive in town prior to moving to Springs avenue. Companies from throughout Adams county, York county, Franklin county and Maryland are among those expected to attend the event.

Marshals for the parade will be Fire Chief James A. Aumen, First Assistant Chief Donald Jacobs and Second Assistant Chief Donald McSherry. Present plans call for Maryland companies to make up the first division of the parade, companies from Pennsylvania other than Adams county to make up the second division and the Adams county companies will comprise the third division.

AIDES RETAIN ORGANIZATION

Adams County's Nurses' Aide Corps will continue to function as an organization it was decided at a picnic of the group at Calenonia park Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Ira Henderson, Fairfield, Captain of the Corps, presided at a brief business session at which members voted unanimously to continue its organization and be available for community service. Members of the Corps served more than 22,000 hours at the Warner hospital during the war years.

Miss Margaret McMillan, secretary of the Red Cross chapter, asked the Aides to volunteer their services during the South Mountain Fair which opens at the Arendtsville park next week. Aides will be on duty from 10:30 a. m., until 9:30 p. m., operating in two shifts.

Mrs. Sydney J. Poppay, instructor for the Corps, and Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, chairman of the county group, spoke briefly.

PLACE BOOTHS TONIGHT FOR BLOCK PARTY

All members of the Gettysburg fire company were asked today by Fire Chief James A. Aumen to report this evening at the engine house to aid in setting up booths for the four-day block party which will begin Thursday evening and end Monday night.

The request came at the end of a committee session Wednesday evening at which final plans for the four night event were discussed. The committee met in the fire engine house.

As part of the general arrangements for the block party and meeting of the Adams County Firemen's association here on Monday, the firemen pointed out that every member of the company will be needed for various duties during the period.

During the block party period firemen not assigned to a particular duty were asked to attend the party in firemen's trousers, white shirt and black tie so that they can be immediately recognized and can be called for various duties as they arise.

Expect 200 Firemen

This evening, in addition to reporting for work firemen were also asked to turn in books for the party. The committee receiving the books will be at the fire engine house from 7 o'clock on.

Finally Extinguish Seminary Coal Fire

The coalbin fire at the Seminary which occupied firemen for more than four hours Tuesday morning apparently is out, Fire Chief James A. Aumen said today.

Spontaneous combustion caused the blaze, he said, which was finally extinguished at 11:45 o'clock Tuesday morning after firemen and seminary staff workers had spent four and a half hours alternately pouring water into the 170-ton coal pile in the seminary boiler room and shoveling out more coal in order to get closer to the fire.

Two checkups were made by firemen Tuesday afternoon in case the fire should begin again.

MAP CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS BY 'CHEST' GROUP

Campaign plans for the first drive for funds this fall by the Gettysburg Community Chest were advanced Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Campaign Chairman John S. Rice.

General plans include formation of sub-committees on residential solicitation, commercial division, out-of-town businesses and clubs and organizations solicitation. When the campaign organization is completed, it will number several hundred persons, Chairman Rice said.

The campaign plans made Tuesday are subject to the approval of the board of directors of the Chest. Last month the Chest goal for the first campaign was fixed at $19,000. The dates for the drive here have not yet been determined but will be timed to coincide with the national Community Chest publicity.

The campaign committee will meet next on September 13 by which time many of the forms for campaign supplies are expected to be complete.

The Chest board of directors will meet next on September 7 when Chairman Rice will present a report for the campaign committee and the sub-committee chairmen may be announced at that time.

German Appeals Court Sets Schacht Free; Stuns Yanks

Stuttgart, Germany, Sept. 1 (AP)—A German appeals court today acquitted Hjalmar Schacht, former German financial wizard, of charges that he was a major Nazi offender. He was ordered freed.

He had been serving an eight-year term after conviction on the charge by a Stuttgart denazification court last year.

Schacht also went scot-free from the courtroom on Nuernberg two years ago, when Hermann Goerring, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and other close associates of Adolf Hitler were condemned to die for war crimes.

The court held that Schacht's participation in the Nazi opposition movement from 1936 onward more than outweighed his earlier support of Hitler.

"None of the civilians who participated in the resistance movement did more than Schacht," the appeals court ruled. Schacht will be released immediately from the internment camp here. German spectators in the courtroom cheered the verdict. Some handed flowers to the aged former president of the Reichsbank.

Seek Bids For Jail Garage September 22

The Adams county commissioners today set September 22 as the date for opening bids for a four-car brick garage to be constructed at the new jail site.

An advertisement for bids on the structure and a 200 foot long macadam roadway leading to it appears on another page of The Gettysburg Times today.

The 42 by 20 ft. brick garage will be located on the northeast side of the jail behind the north wing of the front of the jail. The 20 foot wide macadam roadway will lead from the Biglerville road to the garage, and a 16-foot wide spur will lead south to a 40-foot wide macadam parking space in front of the garage.

DRAFT BOARD LISTS OVER 350

Over 350 men had registered at the arbitration room in the court house up to noon today, with registrars finding themselves less rushed than during the first two days of the current draft registration.

Because of the small number of twenty-four and twenty-five-year-olds signing up today the second office which had been planned to be opened in the court house was not needed.

Business was brisk, but the long lines which characterized the draft registration Monday and Tuesday were absent this morning.

A total of 180 registered Tuesday, making the total for the two first days 338. Of that number 194 were veterans.

Thursday and Friday all the men in Adams county born in 1924 will register at the court house.

Registrars on duty today included Arthur M. Gordon, Mrs. Clair Van Dyke, Jean Bupp, Frances Gilbert, Mrs. Lawrence Sheads and Mrs. Effie Chapman.

GIVEN 30 DAYS

Pat Arnold, Flora Dale, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of being disorderly placed Tuesday night at 11:30 o'clock before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore by borough police. The jail sentence was imposed when Arnold could not pay a fine.

German Appeals Court Sets Schacht Free; Stuns Yanks

American officials were stunned when told of the verdict. Charles M. Friedmann, American denazification officer for the military government in Wuertemberg-Baden, called it "incomprehensible."

Charles M. LaFollette, military governor of the state, declared: "It's a German problem, but my comments would be unprintable."

Schacht said he wants to go to the Italian Tyrol with his family. He said he intended to avoid politics.

Some German leaders reportedly have wanted to see him back in politics so his financial knowledge could be used in coping with post-war economic problems.

The appeals court criticized Schacht's early support of Hitler but noted that he became an opponent of the Nazi regime after the purge of June, 1934, and later opposed rearmament in several sharp memoranda. His criticism of the conduct of the war in 1943 resulted in his dismissal as minister without portfolio, the court said, adding that there was proof to show Schacht was to have been killed in a Nazi concentration camp.

RABBIT SHOW PLANS FOR FAIR ARE COMPLETED

Final plans for the first annual rabbit show at the South Mountain fair were completed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Rabbit and Cavy Association at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Ten exhibitors announced plans to enter over 100 of their rabbits at the fair, with New Zealand Whites and Reds, heavy weight Chinchillas, Steel Flemish, White Flemish, Checkered Giants, Dutch, and Golden Fawns among the breeds which the 10 exhibitors will show. In addition the association officials said, approximately 200 more rabbits are expected for the show at South Mountain fair grounds starting next Wednesday.

Plan Illustrated Lecture
David Altland and A. A. Beamer, of the association, will be in charge of feeding and caring for the animals at the fair and all arrangements for housing the rabbits have been completed, it was announced. The rabbits will be shown in the former poultry house at the fair grounds. Arrangements were made to secure all feed for the animals from the Albers Milling company.

Harry Herlein, of Rockland Farm, N. Y., outstanding rabbit grower in the east, will present a two and a half hour illustrated talk on Thursday, September 9, in connection with the rabbit show at the fair. It was not known Wednesday evening whether the talk will be given Thursday afternoon, September 9, in the auditorium at the fair grounds, or whether the talk, illustrated with slides and moving pictures, will be held during the evening at the rabbit building there.

Plans for the convention and show in October were also discussed, with members planning to start next week to secure advertisements for the catalogue to be printed for the convention.

AUGUST CLOSE TO NORMAL IN SPITE OF HEAT

The recent six-day heat wave that set 46-year heat records here helped make an otherwise cool August a "normal" month on the basis of average temperatures for the 31-day period.

Gettysburg Times weather records show that August's average temperature of 72.9 degrees was only a half degree above normal although the month was marked by wide extremes of temperature.

The highest reading last month — and the highest in more than four years here — was the 100 degrees recorded last Friday afternoon. There were six days last month on which the mercury passed the 90-degree mark and they occurred consecutively from August 25 to 30, inclusive.

Fogs On Eight Days
The coolest days of the month were August 10 and 17 when the mercury dropped to 54 degrees but a new low for the season was reached with a "September morn" reading of 51 degrees today.

Humidity was high for much of last month and fogs were recorded on eight days. There were thunder-showers, too, although 11 days of the 31 were listed as clear. Twelve were partly cloudy and the eight others, cloudy.

Rainfall last month was above normal by .56 inches, the records show, helping to offset a 2.21-inch shortage which occurred in July. The August total was 4.57 inches. Normal for the month is 4.01 inches here. There were measurable amounts of rain on 11 days in August and on eight of those days the precipitation exceeded a quarter-inch. The heaviest rainfall occurred August 5 and totaled .87 inches.

Police Help Unite Traveling Couple

Through the efforts of Gettysburg borough and state police between here and Philadelphia a North Carolina couple will be reunited sometime today on Center square here.

The couple, who had lived in Philadelphia, started to return to North Carolina Tuesday. The wife was driving a car and the husband a truck. En route they became separated. The wife, when her husband failed to appear with the truck, halted here and asked the aid, Tuesday evening, of borough police. A teletype message was sent over state police wires, which located the husband in Coatesville this morning—searching for his wife's car. The wife planned to wait here until the husband arrives and then plan for definite stops and travel routes en route to the Carolinas.

Talkative Witness Fined For Contempt

An unusual case took place Monday in Magistrate H. S. Geiselman's office, Waynesboro, when a witness for the defendant in a hearing of a speeding charge created a disturbance during the hearing.

Allen L. Mallow, Fairfield R. 1, was given a hearing after being arrested for speeding on August 9. His only witness was Paul Sease, also from Fairfield.

Throughout the hearing, according to Geiselman, Sease disturbed the court by making impudent remarks. Sease, who was warned several times, continued in his disturbance.

At the end of the hearing, as Sease was leaving he turned at the door and again made remarks. He was arrested on the spot by a police officer and charged with contempt of court by Geiselman.

FOLLOWING NEW LEAD IN PROBE OF "RED" SPIES

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Washington, Sept. 1 (AP)—Congressional spy investigators today ran down a new lead they said may knit together claims that the Communists operated a prewar underground and wartime espionage ring in Washington.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) said the lead was uncovered in efforts to verify the statement of Whittaker Chambers that he got a government "boondoggling" job in 1937 while a Communist party agent.

An admitted former Red, Chambers has testified he landed on the federal payroll with the help of two men recently accused of being part of the wartime Soviet spy network.

Withholding Name

"A preliminary investigation," Nixon told reporters, "has established that a man with exactly the same name as one of the superiors of Mr. Chambers has, in fact, a long record of Communist activity and worked in the government under Nathan Gregory Silvermaster."

"The committee is not releasing the name at this time, or until it establishes beyond question that two men with the same name were not involved."

"If the inquiry does show that a Chambers superior and the individual whose record we have is one and the same, then an additional important link will have been established between the Chambers underground and the Bentley spy rings."

Admit Activities

Now a senior editor of Time magazine, Chambers has said under oath that he was part of an underground the Reds operated here in the middle 30's. He said he got on the government payroll in 1937 with an assist from George Silverman and Irving Kaplan.

Miss Elizabeth T. Bentley, who says she too is a reformed Communist, has testified that during the war she was a courier for two spy rings that extracted secrets from government officials and piped them to Moscow. She testified that Silvermaster was head of one of the rings, Victor Perlo head of the other. Miss Bentley testified that George Silverman was a member of the Silvermaster group and that Kaplan paid dues to the Perlo group and fed information to the Silvermaster organization.

Democrats Select Candidates Sept. 9

Harrisburg, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Democratic state executive committee will meet here September 9 to fill existing vacancies on the party's Congressional and Legislative ballot.

Top job will be to select a Democratic opponent for Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor in Dauphin county's senatorial race.

The committee also is expected to act on the endorsement by the Northampton county Democratic committee of Joseph J. Kosko, of Bethlehem, for state Senate seat vacated since the election of Judge Carleton Woodring in 1947.

A candidate also will be named for Congress to replace Guy Leader, of York, who dropped out as the Democratic nominee in the York-Adams-Franklin district due to ill health.

CHINESE BAR ALL BUT RED PLANES IN WEST

Nanking, Sept. 1 (AP)—All foreign airlines except Russian have been barred by China from the air over its western border provinces. The step was taken secretly and became known here when U. S. Minister Lewis Clark's plane was grounded and turned back at Lanchow.

In 1939, China, then yearning for Russian support, gave the Soviets exclusive foreign rights to fly over the western provinces for 10 years.

Government spokesman Hollington Tong said China had made no decision yet on termination of the agreement.

In Secret Files

His statement was in contradiction of another high official who refuses to be named. This source said Moscow already had been notified China did not want to renew the agreement upon its expiration on September 9 next year. He added that the government was "awaiting Russia's reply." The pact is still carried in the Chinese Foreign office secret files.

The order barring all foreign planes, except Russian, from the border provinces was confirmed by the foreign office. However a spokesman denied having any knowledge of the reasons for the action, apparently taken by the defense ministry under instructions from China's highest authority, President Chiang Kai-shek.

Clark and his pilots, Lt. Col. A. T. House, Jr., of Long Beach, Calif., and Maj. Kearle Berry of Austin, Texas, spent two days at Lanchow attempting to unsnarl the orders which halted their previously cleared flight. They were finally forced to return to Nanking.

NLRB RULES ON STRIKERS' VOTE

Washington, Sept. 1 (AP)—The National Labor Relations board ruled today that workers who strike for higher pay cannot vote in collective bargaining elections held during the walkout if their jobs have been filled.

The board's unanimous decision, which may have far-reaching effect was given under the Taft-Hartley act passed a year ago. It reversed the board's stand taken a decade ago under the Wagner Labor act.

The board made these two conditions clear however:

1. The jobs of strikers involved must have been taken by non-strikers. (The replacements would then vote instead of the strikers.)
2. That it is not a strike over an unfair labor practice by the employer. (That would include refusal by the boss to bargain with the union, discriminatory firings, and similar issues.)

Under the Wagner act, the board had held originally that even in a so-called "economic" strike the worker who walked off the job was the one entitled to vote in a bargaining election. In a later decision, still under the Wagner act, the board held that both the strikers and their replacements were eligible to vote for the union of their choice.

Tropical Storms Blow Selves Out

Miami, Fla., Sept. 1 (AP)—Two tropical storms, both showing signs of dissipating before any serious damage is caused, ushered in the "hurricane month" of September today.

The first hurricane of the season, which for six days moved steadily toward the mainland from below Puerto Rico, apparently was blowing itself out in the North Atlantic after skirting the North Carolina coastline.

Storm warnings hoisted over the islands of Guadaloupe and St. Lucia in the Windward island chain were lowered before midnight as a small tropical storm with winds no stronger than 50 miles an hour pushed into the Caribbean sea.

A third "area of suspicion," in the Gulf of Mexico located about 150 miles off Brownsville, Texas, apparently was nothing more than a squall wave and held little promise of becoming a tropical storm.

Church Officials Frown On Selves

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Sept. 1 (AP)—The World Council of Churches approved today a section of a report which holds that churches are overburdened with officialdom.

The section approved said churches fail to give enough attention to the rights of their congregations.

Bel Air Meet To Open September 15

Presenting a ten-day program of running races, the Bel Air race track will ring the curtain down on the Maryland summer turf season. The Harford county track will open its gates to the public on Wednesday, September 15, and will offer an eight-race daily card including a steeplechase.

The refurbished plant and attractive purse scale will probably draw not only the better runners from the summer circuit but also many of the thoroughbreds being prepped for the Laurel meeting. It is expected that the sport will be quite formful as over 50% of the public's choices won in 1947.

Located on U. S. Highway 1, about midway between Baltimore and the Maryland-Pennsylvania line, Bel Air draws heavily from both states.

BEST DRIVERS WIN, SAYS TERRY

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 1 (P)—The long and true drives down the middle pay off in golf just as they do in baseball, says William (Memphis Bill) Terry.

Terry, ex-manager of the New York Giants of the National Baseball League, was referring to goings on in the 4th National Amateur Golf championship which moved into its third and fourth rounds over the Memphis Country club course today.

"The guys who can't keep 'em on the fairways on this course don't have a chance," Terry said.

Terry, who is tournament press relations chairman, could illustrate his point with the fact that only three of the six former champions in the contest survived the second round yesterday.

Still around for today's two rounds that will reduce the field to 16 players by nightfall were Robert (Ske) Riegel of Monterey Park, Calif., defending titlist; and former champion Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., 1939 and 1941, and Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., (1938).

MAROONS HOLD FIRST "SCRIM"; RETURN FRIDAY

Gettysburg high school's football squad underwent its first full length scrimmage Tuesday afternoon at Camp Nawakwa where the 33-man squad is holding pre-season drills.

For one hour the entire squad, with the exception of Ronnie Kump who is nursing a slight cold, saw action under the watchful eyes of the Maroon coaches.

A pleasing feature of the workout was the very stiff competition offered by all candidates which will probably result in delaying of naming of the starting lineup for the game with Delone at McSherrystown on Friday evening, September 10.

The Maroon squad has plenty of beef and brawn this season but whether it can be capitalized upon remains to be seen. The backs appear to have more speed than heretofore while the husky linemen should make the going tough for their opponents.

Like Showers
 One of the facilities offered at the camp which has struck the fancy of coaches and players alike is the hot and cold shower baths. The availability of warm showers following workouts has eliminated the stiffness that often resulted following workouts at other pre-season camps.

The Maroons will continue their morning and afternoon workouts until Friday when they will break camp in the evening and return home. A workout is listed for Saturday afternoon on the high school field.

Add New Equipment
 New game equipment including pants, shoes, pads and headgear have been purchased for the squad and will be issued next week.

The east wing of the new section of bleachers on the north side of the field was completed today and will now be painted.

A similar wing on the west side of the bleachers is expected to be finished soon. Steel for the wing is promised before Labor Day and will be erected immediately upon arrival. Cement foundations have been set. The seats have already arrived.

The new wings will add 1,200 seats to the north stands, raising the seating capacity to approximately 3,000.

State To Receive U. S. Funds For Road Work

Washington, Sept. 1 (P)—Pennsylvania will receive a grant of $8,156,837 for work on primary roads as its share of the $450,000,000 appropriation authorized by Congress for the year beginning July 1, 1949.

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Federal Works Administrator, also announced yesterday that Pennsylvania will receive an additional $4,679,791 for repair and construction work on feeder or secondary roads during the same year. The state's allocation for urban highways was $9,344,128. Gen. Fleming said.

The funds will be administered by the Public Roads administration in cooperation with the Highway departments of the various states, which normally are required to match the Federal grants.

Start now on the safe, sure-saving way with U. S. Savings Bonds. In 10 years you'll have $4 to spend for every $3 you invest.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 1 (P)—Okay, boys, you can forget those unimportant baseball races now; football really is getting under way . . . and the guy who said it never stopped must have been a pro. . . . The big nine, Ivy League, big seven and other conservative college leagues finally have reached their official starting date and from here in you can't pick up a newspaper that won't have a tear-spotted sports page or a magazine that isn't trying to be first with an all America team . . . just for the heck of it, how about a "first ten" composed of Notre Dame, Purdue, California, Georgia Tech, Texas, Minnesota, Oregon, Penn State, North Carolina and Georgia — not necessarily in that order?

CHEERING SECTION
 Mrs. F. A. Bunte, publicity chairman for the women's western golf association, was playing a final hurried round of golf with her husband at Lake Geneva, Wis., before departing for this week's championship at San Francisco . . . their caddy spoke so enthusiastically of Peggy Kirk's prospects of winning that Mr. Bunte gave him a ball autographed by Peg . . . the kid then refused a fee for his club toting that day . . . the incident recalled to Mrs. Bunte that after last year's final at Evanston, Ill. Peggy had to hurry home . . . later a box arrived addressed to Peg . . . opening it, tournament officials found a lovely corsage and a card reading: "Better luck next time, your caddy." . . . is there any USGA rule that a caddy can't carry 14 clubs and a torch?

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
 Del Webb, the Yankees owner, has missed a large part of the American League pennant race because he has been too busy building lowcost houses in Tucson, Ariz. . . . from all reports, Del will sell you a nifty two-bedroom job for about as much as you'd pay for a box at Yankee stadium . . . George E. Ross of Battle Creek, Mich., one-time Scottish soccer internationalist, is looking for a job as manager-coach of a soccer team anywhere in North or South America. . . . Joe Louis stopped playing golf for two days during the heat wave last week because he was losing weight too rapidly. Joe usually starts golfing about nine a. m. and doesn't quit until it gets too dark.

PIRATES' PUSH FOR TOP POST STARTLES LOOP

By JOE REICHLER (AP Sports Writer)

Billy Meyer, Pittsburgh's freshman manager, is the talk of the baseball world today as his "pickup" Pirates defy the critics and challenge the league leaders.

Manned largely by castoffs, and generally picked to wind up in the second division, Meyer's bold Buccaneers have proved a bigger surprise than even Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. They're in third place only two games off the pace.

The Pirates picked up a game and a half on the Dodgers yesterday, nosing out the New York Giants, 5-4, while the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs upset the Brooks twice, 3-0 and 7-2.

Pittsburgh remained two games behind the runner-up Braves who climbed within two percentage points of Brooklyn by defeating the Reds in Cincinnati, 3-1. The fourth-place Cardinals also moved within two games of the top, whipping the Philadelphia Phils in St. Louis, 5-0. The Cards, however, were two points below the Pirates as they've won and lost three more than Pittsburgh.

A's Lose Ground
 The fourth-place Athletics lost ground in the tight American league pennant race, bowing 6-1 to the third-place Cleveland Indians, while the first-place Boston Red Sox whipped Detroit, 8-4, and the runner-up New York Yankees edged out St. Louis' Browns, 10-9. At the end of the day's activities, the Red Sox still possessed a one-game advantage over the Yankees. The Indians were a game and a half behind and the A's four and a half.

In the remaining American league game, the Senators downed the Chicago White Sox, 7-1, in Washington. All major league games were played at night with the exception of the Dodgers-Cubs twin bill.

A Pittsburgh crowd of 30,386, which set a home attendance record of 1,291,558, saw the Pirates score three unearned runs in the seventh to come from behind and nip the Giants. It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight triumph and the seventh successive loss by the Giants.

Faces 27 Men
 The lowly Cubs not only put an abrupt halt to the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak, but added insult to injury when Hank Borowy, Bruin righthander, limited Burt Shotton's men to only one hit in the opener, a second-inning single by Gene Hermansky. Borowy faced only 27 men as Hermansky went out stealing.

Veteran First Baseman Frank McCormick hammered a two-run homer and Red Barrett pitched seven-hit ball to lead the Braves to their triumph over the Reds. Grady Hatton accounted for the Redlegs' only run with a four-bagger. Kent Peterson was the loser.

Red Munger hurled the Cardinals' shutout over the Phils, striking out eight and permitting only five hits. Stan Musial paced the Cards' attack against Ken Heintzelman and Blix Donnelly with a double and triple.

Lefty Mel Parnell gained his 11th triumph of the season as he scattered eight hits in keeping the Red Sox on top. Successive first-inning doubles by Ted Williams and Junior Stephens started the Red Sox on the right foot. They added three more in the second against loser Art Houtteman to ice the decision.

Boudreau Tops Hitters
 Manager Lou Boudreau led his Indians to an easy triumph over the A's. He banged a single, double and triple in three official times at bat, and drove in two runs. His perfect night at the plate enabled him to wrest the league's batting leadership from Williams by one point, 371 to 370. Gene Bearden was the winner and Dick Fowler the loser.

The Yankees were forced to stave off a ninth-inning rally to defeat the Browns. Behind 10-4, the Browns jumped on Lefty Joe Page for five runs and just missed tying the score.

Ed Stewart and Al Evans blasted

Heavy Series May Pick New Champ

New York, Sept. 1 (P)—A series of bouts is shaping up which may produce a serious claimant to the heavyweight boxing championship when and if Joe Louis officially retires. Five assorted heavyweights in three fights in the next three months figure in the picture with Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati the key man.

Charles meets Jimmy Bivins in Washington September 13, and signed yesterday to tangle with Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., for 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden, November 12.

The other bout involved is the September 21 engagement in Jersey City, N. J., between ex-light heavyweight champ Gus Lesnevich and Jersey Joe Walcott, two-time loser to Louis.

If Charles can dispose of both inside-the-park homers as Washington collected 14 hits off three White Sox pitchers, Sid Hudson limited the Sox to four hits for his first victory since June 20 and his fourth against 14 defeats.

Children Sell Their Toys in Front of Court House: Some children took their toys to the front of the court house Friday morning and disposed of them at public auction, thereby realizing one dollar and eight cents for the nurses' home fund.

Among the children were Donald and Elizabeth Swope, Betty Thomas, Nancy Keith and Roland Martin.

Get Marriage License: A marriage license has been granted at Hagerstown, Maryland, to John Millhimes, widower, and Florence Groupe, both of Gettysburg.

On August 26, 1748, six ministers and twenty-four lay delegates met in Philadelphia. Among the ministers was Muhlenberg, patriarch of American Lutheranism.

Fire Wipes Out Upper End Mill: Fire, causing damage of $30,000, none of which is covered by insurance, Tuesday night totally destroyed the lumber and planing mill of P. S. Orner at Arendtsville, and for a time threatened to sweep through an entire section of the town with nearly a dozen residences in its path.

The fire was discovered about 6:15 o'clock and apparently originated in the floor of the dry kiln above the boiler room.

Klan Initiates: The first initiation in this vicinity of the Ku Klux Klan was staged Wednesday night on a hill northwest of Hershey's hill a quarter mile from the Abbottstown pike and three miles from Hanover on the Allen Myers farm.

York Klansmen invaded Hanover at 9 o'clock, riding in more than 100 machines. Occupants of many cars were white robes and were masked. A small truck carried an electrically lighted cross.

Today's Talk

OUR INTELLECTUAL HERITAGE

What a rich world of knowledge it is in which we live! Just review for a moment all that multitudes know today that but a few knew a thousand years ago, and yet there were those then who put down their thoughts, and passed them on—the Chinese, the Greeks, the Egyptians, and even the Indians and Cave Dwellers. From them all we have learned.

But most of all in the field of philosophy, what a world of thought has been released down the ages! Montaigne, Tolstoy, Voltaire, Spinoza, Thoreau, Emerson, Pascal, Rousseau, Darwin, Confucius, and scores of others. Each left something of worth for the thinking man.

Take art. Study the great masters—think of the invaluable knowledge that has been gained by all the masters who have followed them. How did they get that genius? How did they discover the way to so mix their colors that they have lasted these hundreds of years? Under whom did Michelangelo study? Who could ever be the successor of Vermeer? Yet from them all every artist gains new knowledge.

In music, science, literature, we all go to school to others, and will for endless years yet to be. We are all deeply in debt to those who have gone before us and left their imprint of knowledge behind. It is often said that there is nothing new under the sun, but we all know that there is. Perhaps not in expressed thoughts, but we live in a world of new discoveries in medicine, in the care and understanding of the human body, and through the thousands of inventions by man that have brought enjoyment and comfort to us all.

Oh, our intellectual heritage is great indeed. There is no excuse for anyone to be ignorant if he has but the will to want to know. Books are everywhere, and the ownership of the greatest at a cost of but a few saved cents! A college education is important, but not essential for a well equipped man in knowledge. The world is a text book. Nature is an open book to the humblest. And people were meant to be read! Wherever we go, no matter in what direction, or to what place, we ought to say: Thank you, thank you, thank you!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Cheerfulness"

HUSBAND DEFECTS

Some faults disturb the married state

And prove the man a sinner.
The one that every wife must hate
Is coming late for dinner.

Another flaw that no man mends,
But goes through life repeating,
Is staying down when supper's friends
The night the bridge club's meeting.

The third—and it's a grievous one—
That women keep deploring,
Is stretching out when supper's done,
To spend the evening snoring.

All husbands, howsoever esteemed,
Possess these faults and others.
Their wives must wonder why they seemed
So perfect to their mothers.

ZHDANOV, ONE OF RUSSIA'S BIG 3, IS DEAD AT 52

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

Moscow, Sept. 1 (AP)—Moscow hung out mourning flags today for Andrei A. Zhdanov, member of the powerful Politburo and a founder of Cominform, who died yesterday. He was 52.

Red flags edged in black fluttered above the streets for the first time on such an occasion since former President Mikhail I. Kalinin died in June, 1946.

Zhdanov was very close to Prime Minister Stalin and often was referred to on occasions of ceremony as "the closest associate of the great Stalin." There is no doubt that, with Stalin and foreign minister V. M. Molotov, he was one of the Soviet union's "big three."

Public Was Shocked
(Abroad, Zhdanov often was regarded as a leading candidate for Stalin's job, when the time came. Others believed in the running were Molotov and L. P. Beria, secret police boss. Stalin now is 68).

The Russian public was deeply shocked at the sudden news of Zhdanov's death, broadcast in a brief bulletin just a half hour before midnight. There had been no previous hint that he was ill.

In addition to being one of the 14 members of the vital policy making Politburo, he was a driving force behind the activities of the Cominform (Communist International formation bureau). He was present when that nine-nation organization was founded in Poland last year and participated in a Cominform meeting only two months ago at which Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia was denounced.

Hero of Leningrad
On holidays, when pictures of the 14 Politburo members were hung on Soviet buildings, Zhdanov's was always placed next to that of Stalin, a reflection of his extremely high standing in the party, the nation and the esteem of Stalin.

During the war he led the defense of Leningrad in person, living inside the walls of that besieged city for two years, through the worst periods of famine and shelling. In that northern city, he was a hero second only to Stalin. He was Communist party leader there before the war.

Since the war, his voice had been virtually the voice of Communism in Russia. He blasted writers and demanded that Soviet authors bring their writings into line with communist ideology. He attacked certain philosophers and demanded radical changes in the whole field of philosophy.

He was, like Stalin, a Georgian, and followed Stalin into the job of party secretary. Only once did his star wane. That was when, according to reports abroad, he counseled the 1939-40 Russian attack on Fin-

Predicts More Cool, And Sunny Weather

(By The Associated Press)

Cool breezes and lowered temperatures prevailed in Pennsylvania again today.

The heat wave that ended Monday after gripping the state for five scorching days seemed far removed as temperatures in the 60s were noted in sharp contrast to the high 90s of the past week-end.

At Philadelphia the mercury skidded to a "chilly" 61 early today—40 degrees below the record breaking 101 registered last Thursday. Wilkes-Barre reported 67 yesterday, while 61 was noted at Mt. Pocono, 71 at Williamsport, 63 at Phillipsburg, 67 at Altoona, 66 at Pittsburg, Brookville and Mercer, and 68 at Reading and Harrisburg.

The Weather Bureau predicted sunny and cool weather for the eastern portion of the state today and tomorrow with more of the same in western Pennsylvania today, becoming slightly warmer Thursday.

Stock Car Races At Williams Grove

Williams Grove, Sept. 1 —Al Keller, a famed midget driver from Newark, N. J., winner of the recent 200-mile stock car race at Langhorne, has turned in his entry for Sunday's American Stock Car Racing association 100-lap stock car race on the half-mile Williams Grove Speedway, it was announced today by Owner Roy Richwine.

Keller, who rose to the top ranks of midget racing after first earning himself the title, "King of the Jalopies," came through at Langhorne in his first major victory in stock car racing. He took over the lead in the 103 lap and drove a steady and consistent race to win by a safe margin over leading stock car drivers from throughout the country.

WALLACE GOES TO DEEP SOUTH

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 1 (AP)—

Henry A. Wallace brought his progressive party campaign into the deep south today in the face of an icy reception by municipal officials.

The third party presidential candidate, target of eggs, tomatoes and boos in North Carolina, was bluntly informed by one Alabama mayor that "your presence is not desired here."

Other city officials warned him they would strictly enforce segregation laws. Mississippi and Arkansas refused to permit the former vice president to speak from the steps of their state capitols.

Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana all promised state highway patrol escorts, although Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama said he didn't "believe anyone in Alabama will physically harm Mr. Wallace." His schedule called for talks at Huntsville, Albertville, Gadsden and Birmingham.

Wallace's running mate, Senator Glen Taylor (D-Idaho) was jailed in Birmingham May 1 on charges of disorderly conduct when he sought to use a door reserved for negroes to enter a meeting of the southern negro youth congress. Taylor was fined $50 and given a suspended jail sentence of six months. His appeal is pending.

ATTIC CLOSET EASY STORAGE

The problem of safely storing out-of-season clothing can be solved by building an inexpensive closet in the attic of most homes. A good size four feet square, the height being the maximum possible from between floor joists to roof rafters.

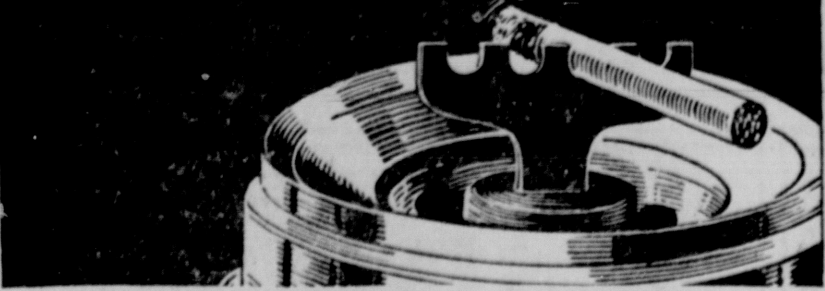

If the attic is unfinished, a four-foot-square sheet of plywood is nailed to the floor joists. On top of this are nailed four pieces of 2x4s set back one-half inch from each edge of the plywood floor. The top is made the same way with a sheet of plywood nailed to the rafters and 2x4s on the plywood, set back one-half inch from each edge directly in line with those on the floor. Sides and back wall are single sheets of half-inch plywood.

nailed to the 2x4s at top and bottom. At the front, 2x4s extend from floor to roof and are toe-nailed to the 2x4s on the floor and the top of the closet. From one of these is hung the door, which is a single plywood sheet four feet wide and the full height of the closet. The door latches against the other upright 2x4.

A block of wood with a "V" cut in its upper end is fastened midway in each sidewall to support an iron pipe on which coat hangers are placed. All joints should be tight; when moth crystals or other moth-preventives are used, clothing in the attic-closet will be fully protected.

Your future is safe with U. S. Savings Bonds.

News Of Interest To Home Builders--

© HOUSING PLAN SERVICE, Inc.

THE INGRAM—The home that can grow with expanding family needs serves a real function in these days of high costs and housing shortages. The most economical expandable house is one that can grow upstairs when more rooms are needed, and that in the meantime provides all the comforts and needs of a complete home on the ground floor.

The Ingram is this intelligent and economical type of "expandable" house. In a floor area approximately 24 feet by 27 feet, it offers a complete four room and bath home on the first floor. Two additional rooms and second bath may be finished upstairs either at the time of the original building or at a later date.

Every downstairs room has two way ventilation. The house lends itself readily to the construction of an attached garage which of course, might be left off in the interest of economy. The exterior, with its dignified entrance, louvred shutters, black capped chimney and dormer window makes an attractive picture. The Ingram conforms to FHA standards and its electrical plan carries the approval of the National Adequate Wiring Bureau. Blueprints and specifications may be obtained from Housing Plan Service, 140 Nassau Street, New York 7, N. Y., at $7.50 per set.

Inspect And Oil Home's Hardware

Regular inspection and lubrication of hardware in the house such as locks, hinges, window pulleys and other movable fittings eliminates many annoyances and prevents minor troubles growing into large ones.

Screws should be kept tight, hinges and other moving parts should be lightly oiled or greased every six months. Window catches and other fittings likely to rust should have a drop of light oil rubbed over the surface and excess oil wiped off.

Shrubby Can Aid Home's Proportions

The most common remodeling problem is the elderly house that now appears too tall for its width. To make its proportions appear more modern and to bring it closer to the ground, use shrubbery and paint.

Low, round clumps of shrubbery across the front of the foundation and extending a few feet past the corners of the house will give an illusion of width. Tall, spiked shrubbery should not be used because it accents height.

If the entire exterior is painted one solid color, with color accents confined to sash and doors instead of painting gingerbread trim in gaudy contrast, the illusion of less height and better proportions will be increased. A dark roof also will make the house appear lower, and awkward third-story dormers are best painted the same color as the roof.

FIRE PREVENTIVE

Ten per cent of all home fires are caused by defective electrical wiring or short-circuits, many of which occur within the walls. The danger of short-circuit fires is minimized if the wall is filled with mineral wool thermal insulation because this substance is a non-conductor and will muffle sparks.

RED OFFENSIVE IN FAR EAST IS BEING PRESSED

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The new and widespread Communist offensive in the Far East to which this column has been drawing attention, is growing more menacing.

The latest development is a threat by the Russian puppet regime of North Korea to destroy the Democratic government which recently was set up in the United States zone of South Korea. Simultaneously the Chinese army newspaper of Nanking warns that civil war is impending in Korea, and Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, retiring U. S. commander in Korea, conceded that there is a possibility of civil war. Hodge, en route to Washington, expressed the belief in Honolulu that South Koreans would fight any invasion from the north.

However, that is a threat which still has to eventuate, although the Reds long have been causing disorders in the southern theatre. Of more immediate concern are the actual Communist rebellions raging in Burma, Malaya, Indo-China and Indonesia. This area is among the world's treasure houses, and one upon which many nations place reliance for essential supplies. From these rich countries come rubber, tin, sugar, rice, oil and other essentials in war and in peace.

Shift By Moscow

The western democracies need some of these supplies for military security. The rehabilitation of Europe and the Orient call for all these products available. Indeed, untold millions of peoples in the Far East are dependent on Burma and other great rice growing areas for this "staff of life."

Premier Thanin Nu a few days ago admitted that 5 per cent of Burma's armed forces had turned traitor. He declared that the other 95 per cent were waging war on the rebels with modern weapons, but emphasized the seriousness of the situation.

Meantime heavy jungle fighting is proceeding on the Malay Peninsula to the south of Burma. In other countries Communist agitation has been intensified and very obvious preparations for uprisings are under way.

All this adds up to a significant fact which I have been emphasizing but is worth repeating: Moscow apparently is shifting the weight of its Communist drive to the Far East. A vast new war theatre is being opened up while the Bolsheviks undertake consolidation of their gains in Europe.

'Intemperate' Lists Removed At Bedford

Bedford, Pa., Sept. 1 (AP)—Eighty persons whose names were posted a few months ago in bars as persons of "known intemperate habits" are free to drink where they wish—their names have been removed.

The lists were posted in Bedford and Everett taprooms by authorities who acted under a 76-year old law. A fine of $40 or a 30-day jail sentence was the penalty facing tavern owners who sold intoxicants to persons on the list.

The suspension period was for 90 days, although a name could be removed in case of a "reformation." None was removed.

"The whole thing worked out pretty well," said O. J. Stiffler, Bedford police chief. "Most of those on the list went out of town to do their drinking—if they did any." But Stiffler says he's keeping his fingers crossed, adding: "Some of them are starting in again and we may bring back the list at any time."

MANY VOTERS ARE ENROLLED

Harrisburg, Sept. 1 (AP)—Quiet, unheralded registration drives are under way in every part of Pennsylvania today to get every potential voter enrolled for the 1948 Presidential election.

And initial reports from all sides indicated the drives by party, labor and veterans' organizations may send the number of potential voters to a new record high by the time the books close September 11.

"There is a huge registration," commented one Republican party spokesman in connection with the drive being made by county GOP organizations to get eligible voters enrolled.

He said the campaign was launched by letters from State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor to county chairmen asking for the same effort on registration they make on getting out the vote on election day. "We want the biggest vote ever cast because of the important issues involved," he said.

Chairman Philip Mathews of the Democratic state committee also reported initial successes from his party's drive. "There have been very fine results so far," he said. "There will be a great silent vote in this election. The people just don't like these high prices and the failure of the 80th Congress to do something about them."

Steel To Be Harder To Get Next Year

New York, Sept. 1 (AP)—Steel consumers whose fourth-quarter quotas have been cut "will find steel even harder to get in the first quarter of next year," the Iron Age said today.

The metalworking trade weekly reported demand undiminished for virtually every item on the steel list.

It cited as reasons: Loss of 1,600,000 tons of steel because of the coal strike; loss of pig iron needed by small firms and foundries; increase in the number and tonnage of defense orders; certainty that European recovery requirements will hit harder from now on; higher tonnage for voluntary allocations, and sustained demands from consumers who were expected to order less steel.

"Researchers, economic experts and steel officials are flabbergasted at the continuation of heavy steel demand," said the Iron Age.

Workers Splashed By White Hot Iron

Phoenixville, Pa., Sept. 1 (AP)—Four workers were splashed and burned as a mold of white hot iron erupted in a plant of the Phoenix-Apollo Steel Company yesterday. One of them, John Yurko, 42-year old foreman, is in Phoenixville hospital with first, second and third degree burns over most of his body.

Yurko was standing only four feet away when the molten metal erupted in two violent blasts that jarred many of the Chester community's 14,000 residents.

Frank Augusta, 39, also was hospitalized with burns of both arms, his body and back, but attendants said his condition was not serious. Two other workers received minor burns. All four victims are residents of Phoenixville.

Augusta said the blasts developed as a mold of hot, liquid iron was dropped prematurely into a vat of cold water on the floor.

day evening. Because of a shower preceding the meeting, the meeting was held indoors and the sports were omitted. Evelyn Harget read the Scripture lesson and a poem, "The Great Outdoors" was read by Mary Lou Boyd. The topic which was, "God Speaks through Art and Music" was discussed by Miss Nester. Group discussions followed on music which included Christmas cantatas, favorite hymns, classical music and choir and solo work. There were also group discussions on art when pictures such as Hoffman's, "The Boy Christ in the Temple" were presented. Prior to the discussion of each picture, Miss Harget read an appropriate verse of Scripture. Next Sunday's meeting will be in charge of James Myers and Harold Hocken-smith. When the topic will be, "God Speaks Through People."

A MAN IN THE HOUSE

By Florence Stuart

Chapter 31

"I'm getting up," Jane announced, showing signs of real life for the first time. "I'm getting up this very minute. Bring me some clothes, darling. And by the way, how are the streets for driving? Think the car will skid without chains?"

Aunt Mae told her emphatically she was out of her mind if she imagined she was going to the hospital that day, or even the next. Perhaps by the following week.

Jane said, smiling, as she slipped on satin slippers and stood up, testing her strength: "Look, darling, haven't you heard that love works miracles? Well, it's working one right now. I'll drive to that hospital today. And it won't kill me, either."

"It may kill me, from worrying over you," Aunt Mae said wryly. "But if you're determined, I'll do the driving. I'll get you a hot drink before we start. Maybe if you bundle up in your fur coat—"

Carl was asleep when they arrived at the hospital. "I won't make a sound," Jane promised the nurse. "If you'll just let me sit here by his bed until he wakes up..."

And when Carl opened his eyes and saw her sitting there, Jane slipped to her knees and held out her arms to him. Without a word she was saying that she wanted him to come home to her heart.

"Carl," she said. "Oh, Carl."

"Hell, baby," he said. "How did you get here? They told me you were ill."

"Oh, I was," Jane said. "For two days I ran a fever that practically blew up the doctor's thermometer. He thought it was pneumonia. But I knew better. It was just the orneriness burning up inside me. Now it's all gone and I feel fine. Darling how are you? I didn't know until an hour ago that you'd been ill."

She said, smiling through quick tears: "I want you to get well, quick, but not too quick. Because I want the fun of nursing you well." Her mouth worked. "I want to earn your forgiveness. I want you to love me the way you used to."

Carl was staring into her eyes. "There's nothing to forgive, honey," he said very gently. "And I've never stopped loving you. I never will. Don't you know that yet? Only—"

"Only what, darling?" And when he did not answer she said, and she was grinning: "Look, my pet, I've boned up on the postmortems and I'm ready with all the answers. But the nurse said I wasn't to get you excited or talk too much, so I think from here on I'll confine my conversation to three little words. I love you."

Carl's hands fell on her arms and pulled her up to him. She felt him tremble and she saw the wonderful brightness in his eyes. But he said: "Maybe you're only being sorry for me. I want to come back to you, sweetheart, more than anything on earth. But only if I can make you happy, happier than any other man can. If you love some other fellow, I'll open my hands and let you go to him."

Jane half turned her head, so that her cheek was against his. "Look," she said, laughing softly. "Don't be so darned generous about giving me away."

His hand touched her hair. "I've made so many mistakes," he told her. "I've had a lot of time to think about them. Perhaps that's one virtue about being laid up in the hospital. It gives a man a chance to take a look at himself. I've kept too many things to myself. I was sick with jealousy of you, but I tried to hide it. And you assumed I didn't care."

Jane's eyes brightened. "Were you jealous, darling? Really?"

"I worked like a dog to get that job, because I wanted you to be proud of me. It was all for you, always. But I didn't make you understand that, and you thought I was

THE END

Expect Polio Peak In Pa. In September

Harrisburg, Sept. 1 (AP)—A total of 176 cases of infantile paralysis was reported in Pennsylvania during August, more than triple the number for the previous seven months of 1948.

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, deputy secretary of health, said he anticipated "about 250 or 300 cases" in September, a peak month for polio. This would push the state total to more than 500, about the same as last year.

Total cases reported to the Health Department so far in '48 have reached 238 compared to 84 in the same period last year, Dr. Moore said, adding: Philadelphia leads the list with 76. Next are Montgomery county with 16, Montour county with nine, Northumberland with eight and Dauphin with six.

York county has only five cases compared to the statewide high of 76 it had in 1947.

Pair Gets $66,000 Loot In Robbery

Philadelphia, Sept. 1 (AP)—Two thugs robbed the B. J. Katzen jewelry shop of $1,000 in cash and 16 diamond rings valued at $5,000 yesterday.

The proprietor, B. J. Katzen, told police the two men had been in the store 10 minutes earlier and purchased a $350 diamond-studded wedding band and engagement ring set.

Katzen said he and a clerk, Mrs. Beatrice Dorsey, were held at gunpoint by one of the men, while the other scooped up the cash and the rings.

The Clemson-South Carolina football game will be played on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 23, as part of the South Carolina state fair festivities.

CONSERVATION OF OIL URGED

New York, Sept. 1 (AP)—State officials of Pennsylvania, Texas and Kansas appealed today for strict conservation of American oil resources to meet this country's rapidly increasing demands.

Failure to conserve present reservoirs or to discover new oil fields may result in a dearth of mineral resources for generations yet unborn, according to William S. Livingston, Jr., secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs.

If wasteful methods of use and production are continued, he added, "there may not be enough for the use of our own generation." His remarks were contained in an address prepared for the closing session of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission here.

Forests that have been lumbered or burned can be replanted, Livingston said. Exhausted land can be restored, and game propagated.

But the exhausted oil well, the drained gas pocket, "can not and will not be restored by any means now known to science x x x. Every effort of every state that is a member of this compact must be devoted to the improvement of production methods in existing and future fields. We are still far short of perfect methods in primary recovery for both gas and oil. We must devote greater energy to the discovery of new fields, and in this search our imaginations must not be bound by any rules of the past."

State AFL Faces Political Issue

Harrisburg, Sept. 1 (AP)—The executive council of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor opened a two-day session here today with the question of a Presidential endorsement set up for consideration.

Other issues also up for study included convention resolutions on displaced persons, anti-Semitism, prohibition, foreign-made goods, forced labor in foreign countries, and repression of civil rights.

President James L. McDevitt said the council will review "the convention decision to refer the matter of Presidential endorsement" to the federation's League for Political Action.

The league was set up last year primarily to oppose congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley labor law. It will meet here Thursday at the conclusion of the council meeting. William Green, head of the national AFL organization already has endorsed President Truman for reelection.

The regular investor in U. S. Savings Bonds is a cheerful and hopeful man.

CHARLES BEARD, NOTED HISTORY WRITER, IS DEAD

New Haven, Sept. 1 (AP) — Charles A. Beard, 73, the noted historian, died today in Grace-New Haven community hospital.

The historian, author of some 30 books on American History, had been a patient at the hospital since August 2. His physicians, Dr. Marion Howard and Dr. Ashley W. Oughterson, said his death was caused by aplastic anemia.

Beard's most recent book, published only last April, stirred up considerable controversy.

Stirred Controversy
Entitled "President Roosevelt and

The Coming Of The War, a Study Entitled "President Roosevelt And The Coming Of The War 1941, a Study of Appearance and Reality," it accused the late President of secretly and deliberately instigating war between the United States and Japan and Germany, and questioned whether the results of the war justified the means Beard said were employed.

The book outraged followers of President Roosevelt, but the month after it was published Dr. Beard was awarded the gold medal of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

Predicted "New Deal"
While Beard in this book employed his powers of analysis to interpret hindsight, he and his wife, Mary, who collaborated on five of his works, exhibited foresight when they published "The Rise Of American Civilization" in 1927. This book, written six years before the phrase

"New Deal" became a by-word, predicted that the nation was due to see a sociological movement much like the one which was carried out under the Roosevelt administrations.

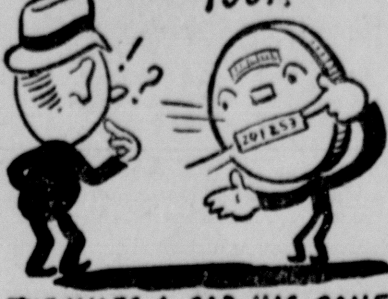

Other books by Beard included "An Economic Interpretation Of The Constitution," "American Foreign Policy In The Making," "America In Mid-Passage," "The Development Of Modern Europe," "The Economic Basis Of Politics," and "A Basic History Of The United States."

Beard was born November 27, 1874 near Knightstown, Ind. Besides his widow, Beard is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Vagts, of Sherman, and a son, William, of Altadena, California.
